CARRER SUMMARY

I love writing and create an idea into the creative design as well as I did on my social media. I am a seventh-year college student, majoring in computer engineering at Institut Teknologi Telkom Surabaya. I also have beginner skill in HTML and CSS which's why I am hoping to be a front-end developer who manages the user interface with minimalist approached design that I love. Personally, I'm a person with an analytical and driver approach, so that would make sense if I had ever led some events that successfully run within a great result in the end at college. That would be the leadership skills that I have. I'm also looking for a position to company that supports creativity and very usefull for people life innovations.
